

How do I turn off the prompt for viewing secure items only in Internet Explorer?

These instructions reflect Internet Explorer 8. If you are running IE 9 or 10, the procedure is still the same, but the location of the Tools menu may be slightly different from the images displayed below.

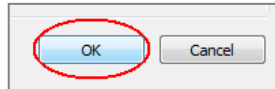

1. Open Internet Explorer.
2. Click Tools, Internet options.
3. Click the Security tab, Custom level...

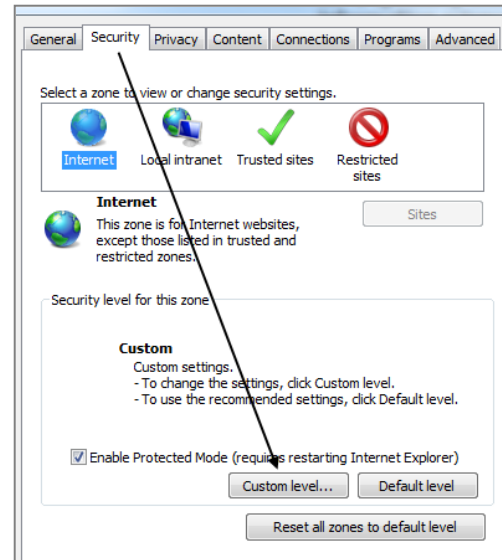

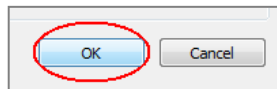

4. Scroll about half way down and locate the "Display mixed content" option. Click "Enable".

5. Click OK to save and return to the Security tab.

6. Click OK again to close the Tools window.

Note: You may have to perform this procedure again, in the event that you install Windows updates,